Policemen in a Row Among Themselves on Sherman Avenue.

TERRORIZE MANY EXPOSITION VISITORS

One of the Reformers Draws His Revolver and Threatens to Annihilate Two Others, White All Use Foul Language.

In the presence of several hundred exposition visitors at the west gates of the grounds Wednesday Police Officers Fred Moore, Harry Mussleman and -Guckin, engaged in a violent quarrel, during which Moore drew his revolver twice and attempted to use it on his comrades. The sight of the weapon and the fear that a revolver duel was to inke place between the men, caused the wildest kind of excitement among the crowd. Women ran screaming out of range of expected bullets and several were trampled upon. No shots, however, were fired, as friends last night. Before she boarded the Kansas of the men interfered. The officers continued the quarrel, using as weapons the choice billingsgate that policemen know how to use. The language was most disgusting and was continued for fully ten minutes. started in great rage to look up the scalper. The three officers were to all appearances under the influence of Hauer.

> The quarrel originated in a joke that Musselman and McGuckin had played on Moore. The latter is on duty in the street outside of the west gate. A short time before the quarrel he took his uniform, coat and helmet off and borrowed a citizen's coat and hat and entered the grounds, his destination being the German village, where he had an engagement with a woman His uniform he hid near the gate While he was absent from his post Musselman and McGuckin discovered the clothing and hid it. On his return Moore found his clothing missing and at once suspected his brother officers, who had just passed out of the gate. He followed them out into the crowd, and, drawing his revolver, leveled it at them with an oath and demanded that they return his coat and hat. A scuffle then ensued for possession of the > revolver, but Moore succeeded in freeing aimself from his fellows and again leveled he weapon at them. Friends interposed at this time and the clothing was returned o Moore and the trio separated. All of the men are recent appointees to the force. The matter has not been brought to the otice of the men's superiors as yet, and probably will not be unless some citizen cakes formal complaint. No action has as yet been taken in the case of Officer Costello, who ten nights ago visited several saloons on Sherman avenue n full uniform with two women, accumulating a cheap drunk at the expense of the saloons on the strength of his being an officer. His conduct was brought before the police officials through The Bee and private citizens, but no cognizance was taken of the matter and no investigation made of it sim oly because no elaborately written complaint had been filed with the commissioners.

WHY THE SETTLEMENT WAITS President Bingham of the City Conncil Explains the Delay in Committee's Action.

President Bingham of the city council declares that the special railroad committee, which has been doing no work, has been handicapped by circumstances. City Comptroller Westberg has been requested to furnish the amount of the city's claims for damages against the railroads for viaduct repairs and has been too busy with the outine business of his office to furnish the figures. President Bingham says that without the amount in hand the committee cannot make any definite settlement with the railroads. The absence of President Burt of the Union Pacific from the city has also acted in the shape of a hindrance to any aggressive work on the committee's part.

How to Make

Claret Lemonade or "Punch."

One and one-half to two dozen lemons and one-fourth dozen oranges; two or three quart bottles of claret and six quart bottles Waukesha-Hygeia (gaseous) pure clear water enough for 5 gallons; plenty of ice (Granulated sugar, 3 lbs. or to taste.) Use juice of lemons only. Cut the oranges in small pieces, using the rind as well as pulp. The rind of one or two lemons may also be left in punch to impart flavor.

NOTE NO. 1—Canned pincapple may be used in place of orange, or in addition to it.

NOTE NO. 2.—Some people use Apolli-naris water instead of WAUKESHA-HYGEIA, but this is a needless waste of money, as WAUKESHA-HYGEIA is every bit as good, and can be bought of us for $2 per doz. quarts (gaseous). NOTE NO. 3—We sell one hundred kinds of mineral waters and $5 kinds of malt.
